Dear Livie:

I have your letter of 26 August and the enclosed copy of the letter that you received from [redacted] concerning [redacted]

Our Personnel people tell me that [redacted] applied for a position here and that his papers were made available to the various offices which might use someone with his background and experience. We also explored the possibilities of using him as a consultant or on a contract basis, but we were unable to find any position for which he might be considered. However, I appreciate your writing to me about him.

With every best wish.

Sincerely,

SIGNED

Allen W. Dulles
Director
